The convention features 1,100 students from over 30 secondary schools across New Zealand and serves a number of purposes: providing competitions (following multiple regional competitions), educational masterclasses and an evening showcase concert. All contests, masterclasses and the evening showcase are open to the general public and in the past have had more than 2,000 public attendees take part or attend a single convention. The key purpose of the convention is to encourage and develop the involvement of youth in music, through barbershop singing.

We are seeking funding not for a sole part of the convention, but rather to support the convention in its entirety. 80% of our expenditure for the convention is the venue cost for the Bruce Mason Theatre, approximately $11,000 for the two days (20 and 21 of September).

Promotion of activity	Yes, Via our Facebook page and website initially. We will receive free advertising for our Showcase Concert through the Ticketmaster website and plan to engage with local choirs to promulgate awareness of our event through their networks, in exchange for recognising their support through our Showcase Concert's programme.

Local board recognition	As we have done previously in other cities, we acknowledge all of our sponsors by including their logo and recognition of their support in all our programmes and through our Master of Ceremonies at the Showcase Concert. We also welcome use of their promotional material, such as banners and extend invitations and tickets to our event. As our website and facebook page were developed in October last year, we intend on recognising those contributors to our convention through social media now that we have this ability.
Alignment with local board priorities	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> our area's arts and culture is diverse, vibrant and well supported The National Young Singers in Harmony Convention (hosted at the Bruce Mason Theatre) features 1,100 students from 30 schools, NZ wide, brought together for the world's leading youth barbershop quartet and choir festival. Demographics

Maori outcomes	Yes, "Kiss The Sky' includes works that encompass Asian/Pacific & Māori culture in the celebration of the planet/seasons and with particular reference to Matariki to broaden education around this culturally important event for New Zealand. Two of our dancers are of Māori descent and we have mutually benefited from the opportunities the company has provided and continues to provide with regard to developing their dance experience - particularly working with a Korean and an Australian choreographer in this production. Our pre show talk includes discussion on the themes of 'Matariki 'with Chinese and Korean translation to share our Māori culture with chinese and korean communities, as well as to all New Zealanders who want to know more.
Accessible to disabled	Yes, The Bruce Mason Theatre has facilities for access for people with disabilities.

Project title	Transport for elderly and children
Dates	01/04/2017 - 15/06/2018
Location	32 Clarence Street Devonport
Summary	The elderly rely on a van service to get to the supermarket. Since the service was stopped by the supermarket and the local church. The House picked up the service and purchased a van and runs it throughout the year, only breaking for Christmas. This trip takes 4 hours split over 2 days per week. The elderly would feel quite isolated if this service was to stop as it is a time for them to connect with the other people, also it is an opportunity for the house staff to keep an eye of these service users, as some are quite frail. There are a range of people, some with disabilities.
Focus specific information	N/A
Cost of participation	No but we do ask for a gold coin for the van drive.
Requesting grant for	We have relied on volunteer drivers in the past year, but this has become unsustainable. As the drivers we have are volunteers we rely too much. This year we have seen a few sicknesses around our drivers which has caused a problem to get replacement trustworthy drivers. If the van service were stopped it would make a huge difference to our house and to the community. As so many rely on. We are requesting part funding for the salary of a permanent driver. This will give us a reliable service where we can grow this service.

Many of these young people cannot afford driving lessons. In November/December 2016 we ran three Learners Licence Theory workshop at our Albany centre with 20 young people attending so we have started the process. This project aims to go to the next stage and provide free driving lessons to young people in need in the Devonport-Takapuna area.
