Project: Fieldwork for (extra)ordinary folk - Public Site Performances

Location:	New Lynn Memorial Square, La Rosa Garden Reserve
Summary:	Fidget Collective is a group of performing artists who are interested in dealing with the notion of society and the social being through performances in public sites. 'Fieldwork for (extra) ordinary folk' is an outdoor & Interactive performance event that brings awareness to our public spaces, social systems and social interactions. Through marking zones ('fields') and using tables and chairs, the roaming audience is invited to interact with our 'scenarios' of dance and physical theatre. Adults, teenagers and kids could be asked to direct a scene/ dance, provide 'voiceovers' for the performers, choose the music or place objects in the performance space. The experience aims to bring an appreciation, awareness and care of shared spaces through playful artistic engagement.

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

As a frequent visitor to both the La Rosa Gardens and Memorial Square in New Lynn, I am interested (with my collective) to 'enliven' the two public sites by bringing the immediate community together to celebrate an interactive and playful artistic event. This event aims to bring attention to ourselves as citizens in society and how the use of the space, and its attention and care can give back value and meaning to community strengths. These strengths promote more communication through the idea of public platforms, sharing of experiences and care of the environment. A simple concern is not to litter. An objective to promote is to sit on the public seats and spend time being with other citizens.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished
- great local communities across the Whau

The arts promote reflection, social interaction and acceptance to diverse ideas and communities. They are not focused on competition but rather an inclusive activity for all walks of life. Our performances question and bring awareness to our social issues and environments. They also bring humour and playfulness into people's lives especially when they least expect it in a local public square or local garden reserve in New Lynn. These spaces are different landscapes in the Whau area that we wish to promote healthy activities that cherish artistic engagement and community spirit.

Demographics

Māori outcomes: • None identified

Accessible to people with disabilities: Yes - The selected two public spaces for the performances are already accessible to people with disabilities through ramps, flat walkways, seated areas and safe gathering places for large groups.

Target ethnic groups: All/everyone

Promoting SmokeFree: Healthy lifestyle is promoted through the active and physical nature of our work as performers. I think the public witnessing the event will be inspired by the ease of expression and movement along with a sharing of an artistic activity that gives meaning to our public spaces in different ways and delights people towards being better to themselves and others. The performance content can expose a smoke free message through its commentary on social spaces.

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

Our programmes develop young people providing them with training focusing on personal development, teamwork, leadership and communication skills. We use creative and action-based methods (spoken word, drama, music and poetry) to engage young people in youth development processes that improve self-confidence, resiliency and social behaviour. Although they are fun and creative programmes, there is another layer to them which effectively help young people to examine their behaviours, attitudes and thinking - all critical parts of personal development.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished
- great local communities across the Whau

We use creative and action-based methods (spoken word, drama, music and poetry) to engage young people in youth development processes that improve self-confidence, resiliency and social behaviour. Our programmes aim to encourage discussions, review attitudes, and provide information so that isolation is reduced, personal skills are enhanced, and a greater level of wellness is attained. Our methods resonate strongly with youth, particularly those who are struggling to identify with more traditional ways of learning - giving them a voice.

Project: Term1 2018

Location:	Glen Eden Intermediate School classrooms, 23 Kaurilands Titirangi Auckland
Summary:	WJSS offers various levels of Japanese classes from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m., 4 days a week during the school term. Japanese heritage children from pre-schoolers to Year 9 attend class once a week. Our programme aims at their development and knowledge in Japanese culture and language, whilst increasing their Japanese competency so that they enjoy communicating freely in Japanese. We would like our students to be proud of their Japanese heritage as well as respecting the value of those from other cultural backgrounds, believing that they will ultimately grow into and contribute to the multicultural community of New Zealand.
Dates:	05/02/2018 - 13/04/2018	Rain dates:	-
People delivering:	100 students, 9 staff, 3 board members and 10 volunteers	People benefiting:	family members of approx. 72 households

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

New Zealand-born children of Japanese heritage, immigrants' children from Japan, and children who wish to maintain and improve their Japanese along with their parents can develop and maintain their knowledge and skills in Japanese culture and language. Furthermore, children of WJSS could share their skills and knowledge with their peers in their school communities.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- great local communities across the Whau
- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished

Not only Japanese communities but also other communities in West Auckland have benefitted from WJSS. Immigrant children share together what they have brought from their home country, Japan. Furthermore, they can maintain a strong identity of being Japanese New Zealanders. They share their backgrounds in their school environment. The school communities also learn about Japanese culture through our various events open to public such as teaching origami, making miso soup & rice balls, and teaching how to make sushi.

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

There are numerous outcomes from this project we keep seniors interested, active and participating in the community.

We provide a stimulating programme of speakers and study groups for members to participate in.

We are continually adding new study groups for our membership's enjoyment and stimulation.

We have healthy living and walks and talks which provide healthy lifestyle group activity.

We provide valuable companionship for seniors. We have some members who have recently lost partners and have been able to find a new life by involving themselves with U3A.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- great local communities across the Whau
- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished

We are supporting seniors, keeping them active, alive and involved, learning is good for the soul and keeps people stimulated which in turn improves one's health. Loneliness and boredom are killers for older people, feeling lost and not part of the community. U3A ensures this does not happen.

Generation Ignite

Project: Summer Camp Ignite 2017

Location:	Generation Ignite HQ New Lynn (Unit 8, Veronica Court) and to camping destination TBC
Summary:	Summer Camp Ignite is an all-expenses-paid true 'Kiwi camping experience' for up to 30 of our Whau rangatahi and Generation Ignite leaders. After working alongside the majority of these youth and their families throughout the year, Camp Ignite is our opportunity to invest into our Whau rangatahi over an intensive 5-10 day period. Not only are relationships strengthened, but community youth (some of whom literally never venture beyond their neighbourhoods) will experience swimming at the beach, fishing, sleeping in a tent and roasting marshmallows over a campfire! Camp is the perfect platform to grow our Whau youth as community leaders and role models, while inspiring rangatahi at-risk to dream big and begin the year focused with clear goals.
Dates:	28/12/2017 - 07/01/2018	Rain dates:	-
People delivering:	13	People benefiting:	30

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

Camp Ignite is an invaluable experience for individual young people as they create lifelong memories, and use the time to foster vital positive relationships between mentors and young people whilst providing opportunity to develop and grow the Whau's emerging young leaders. We know that camp is an ideal platform to grow our Whau youth as community leaders and role models and we intentionally give our senior youth opportunity to lead their peers during camp, following-through every year afterward in extending this to youth and community leadership.

We believe and know to be true that as individuals are valued and specifically invested into, over time their individual impact is significant and a flow-on effect occurs amongst their families, peers and community.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- great local communities across the Whau
- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished

Camp Ignite allows us to help build great local communities by investing directly into our Whau youth over an intensive 10 day period, which is the culmination of a year's work alongside rangatahi and their families.

The culture of our rangatahi is valued and cherished as we work with these young people holistically and provide opportunities across camp to reflect on their influences, their values, evaluating at length on the incredible importance of understanding and valuing their identity, whilst providing opportunities for them to express themselves.

Demographics

Māori outcomes:

- Māori participation - Māori priority group, target group, high representation or Māori staff delivering

We predominately work with Maori young people (over 70% Maori) who attend local high schools, alternative education or are enrolled in private training education under Youth Guarantee. Generation Ignite positively impacts and supports rangatahi through our programmes and services, urging them to aim high, dream large and fulfil their potential. We provide holistic support and are active in connecting and collaborating with other youth service providers, having been the lead anchor organisation for the Whau Youth Development over 2016-2017. This has provided pathways for our young people to access an even wider range of services and opportunities, to give them the necessary training, skills and care to do and be, better.

Accessible to people with disabilities:

Yes - Camp Ignite is accessible to youth with a range of disabilities, including those with physical disabilities and those with learning and behavioural needs. For example, one of our Whau rangatahi was born with only part of his left arm, i.e. he has no left hand. This young man is fully independent but knows that he is fully supported as needed and requested particularly throughout recreational activities at Camp Ignite; another young person who requires daily medication for ADHD and his heart is specifically accountable to a Camp Leader to ensure medication is taken at the same time every day.

Target ethnic groups:

New Zealand European, Māori, Pacific Peoples, All/everyone

Promoting SmokeFree:

Summer Camp Ignite is strictly 100% alcohol, drug and smoke-free with absolutely no exceptions allowed. If this rule is breached, young people will be sent home from camp immediately. The application form which young people and their parents/caregivers complete includes this message, and is signed by all parties to signify their understanding and acceptance of this.

Called MBODY movement, we aim to increase people's fitness, strength, co-ordination, flexibility, joy and connectedness through both movement education and fostering of community spirit. Each 2-hour workshop will include 3 sessions; cardio workout, social partnering and mind/body well-being. People are welcome to do one, two or all three of the fun and open sessions in each workshop.

Community benefits

Identified community outcomes:

Our purpose for doing this is to increase people's fitness, health, well-being and connectedness through movement education and fostering of community spirit. Through participating in movement and mindfulness exercises together, people will experience both the joys and benefits of moving, nurturing and being present with our bodies, and with each other. The movement workshops will increase people's fitness, strength, co-ordination and flexibility, and provide people access to experiencing healthy and empowered relationships with their bodies and with each other.

Alignment with local board priorities:

Whau

- outstanding development in New Lynn, Avondale and along our main roads
- Whau's local arts, cultures and heritage are cherished

These workshops are to help get more Aucklanders, more active, more often. We are passionate about people enjoying the journey of fitness, health and well-being and becoming more empowered and more embodied. We believe in the need for dance, for its medicine, its enjoyment and for our well-being as people. We want MBODY movement to make a real difference in peoples' lives. We want the community to participate together for everyone's benefit, and for dance/movement instructors to be recognised and paid well for their skills and work.

Collaborating organisation/individual	Role
Helen Fergusson	Many hours of administration, advertising and assisting during the workshops.

Demographics

Māori outcomes:

- Māori led - either a Māori organisation that is applying or Māori directed (came about as a request from Māori).

Both workshops will be facilitated by Cathy Livermore, our highly experienced movement specialist who is Māori. Her values and world view, shaped by Māoridom, come through in her teaching and facilitation in a way that all participants, Māori and non-Māori, can engage with and learn from.

Accessible to people with disabilities: Yes - One of the primary aims of our MBODY movement workshops is to reduce people's stress, anxiety, depression and low self-esteem through empowerment, joy, mind-body connection and fostering of an open, supportive community. Through guided exercises and movement education, we explore how we are fundamentally all the same due to the nature of being human, no matter the state of our mental or physical health. Our workshops are designed to foster compassion and understanding between one another, whether fit, unfit, co-ordinated, unco-ordinated, disabled, able-bodied, experienced, in-experienced etc. Our venue is wheelchair friendly and we will specify that our inclusive workshops are open to ALL.

Target ethnic groups: All/everyone

Promoting SmokeFree: The participants will be guided through exercises involving breathing, energy flow, awareness of emotions and increasing physical health. We will discuss and show how movement and mindfulness exercises can be very effective as well as healthy stress relievers.
