LIFE EDUCATION

For over 30 years Life Education has been teaching health and nutrition in schools throughout New Zealand.

Every year over 250,000 children from 1,450 schools are involved in the Life Education programme. Through lessons in our mobile classrooms children learn about healthy eating, being a good friend, good and bad substances and how their body works.

We support and offer schools an integrated programme utilising a shared planning approach to ensure we are meeting children's learning needs.
VISION

- Enabling children to reach their full potential

PURPOSE

- To educate and inspire generations to embrace positive choices for a healthy mind and body

OUR GOAL

- By 2025 we will engage directly with 85% of children and families each year
LIFE EDUCATION’S GRADUATE PROFILE

During the primary school years students will learn to be ...

- Proud of their identity and confident in who they are.
- Empowered to make healthy, informed choices.
- Connected and engaged with the world.
- Curious and have inquiring minds.
- Respectful of themselves, others and the environment.
Our Integrated Approach

1. Lessons are shared by our Educators to meet schools' individual needs and classroom resources.

2. We review our practice and reflect feedback to meet schools' needs.

3. Educators liaise with schools' individual needs and discuss their teaching and learning needs.

4. Students continue to use learning through workbooks, resources and family.

5. Teachers access our online portal through the classroom resources into their classroom.

6. Teachers provide feedback on how we meet their needs.

7. Students attend two to three lessons in mobile classrooms with educator and Harold.

8. Educators book us in advance to visit the schools.

9. 96% of teachers report they would recommend us to other schools in their area.

Supporting Schools
Life Education’s evidence-based resources and registered specialist Educators offer tailor-made interactive learning experiences to complement your school’s inquiry focus.
Today children and adolescents face a lot of challenges...

OBESITY
"One in nine children (aged 2 to 10 years) are obese and a further 28% of children are overweight. 45% of adult and 35% of Pacific children are obese."

"The effects of being overweight for a child include low self-esteem, bullying, eating disorders, chronic ill health and even suicide."

SUBSTANCE USE
"Approximately 15% of New Zealand high school students use substances at least once a month. These are likely to result in significant harm and may cause long-term problems.

Students with very high substance use including binge drinking from most challenging family and school lives that others."

MENTAL HEALTH AND WELL-BEING
"New Zealand has the second lowest suicide rate in the developed world... the number of adolescents reporting two or more psychological symptoms (feeling low, feeling anxious, feeling nervous, and having sleeping difficulties) is increasing."

"Six out of ten girls are concerned with the way they look... going swimming and playing sports, to的一去 the doctor, going to school or even offering this opinion."

BULLYING
"Rates of school bullying in New Zealand are among the worst worldwide. About 25% to 40% of students report being bullied on a weekly or more frequent basis. 64% of New Zealand teachers believe that bullying occurs in their school and 89% believe that bullying is very easy in a child's life (between pre-school and Year 4)."

"Nearly one in ten students have been afraid that someone would hurt or bother them in the past year."

FOOD AND NUTRITION
Children learn how food gives them energy, how it helps them grow and how their body digests it. They explore the variety of nutritious foods needed every day, what a balanced diet looks like and how to read packaging. Lessons may include Science and Human Biology.

HUMAN BIOLOGY
Children learn about body systems and how they work to carry food, water and oxygen around the body. Children explore their brain and the nervous system as the control centre for their body. They learn about stress affects people in a variety of ways.

SUBSTANCES
We focus on the effects of alcohol and other drugs, both legal and illegal. Children learn how to identify the difference between harmful and harmful, how they can change the way the mind and body work and the impact drugs can have on people's lives. Children explore the power of advertising, peer pressure and social influences. We want to empower children to make informed decisions as they enter their teenage years.

RELATIONSHIPS AND COMMUNITIES
This strand focuses on connecting and relating to others. Lessons look at friendships and relationships as well as the need to show respect and consideration for others. Children learn about leadership and teamwork, coping with change, pressure and conflict, and digital citizenship. Bullying and other safety are often subjects schools request our expertise and support with.

IDENTITY AND RESILIENCE
Confidence in their own identity and where and how they fit in are challenges that come with growing up. Children learn about feelings and emotions, and that they are special and unique and it is okay to be different. Value is placed on the idea that each kid/child's personality makes them unique and it shapes how they make decisions and respond to situations.

What we know

- NZ has one of the worst youth suicide rates in the OECD
- NZ has one of the highest child obesity rates in the world
- 30% of children 13 and under have tried alcohol
"This was the best anti-bullying message I have ever seen targeted at 6-year-olds. We talked about filling a person's bucket with positive comments. My kids really got the idea. It was hands-on and it led my teaching for several weeks afterwards and still helps me discuss lunchtime incidents with my children."

Feedback from primary school principal, Counties Manukau Region.
“Experienced, enthusiastic and understanding educators that are able to come into a school and deliver lessons related to each individual school’s curriculum, from a different perspective than the classroom teachers.”

Item 8.2

It was the need to support children’s health and wellbeing that saw Life Education begin its journey in New Zealand over 30 years ago. Today we are New Zealand’s largest health education provider in schools.
Local Government New Zealand (LGNZ) Conference

6-9 July 2019, Te Whanganui-a-Tara Wellington

This year’s theme of ‘Localism’ was accompanied by a discussion paper for delegates to read and consider if and how we would change local government. LGNZ President Dave Cull says ‘This means strengthening local self-government, putting people back in charge of politics and reinvigorating our democracy. We are seeking an active program of devolution and decentralization.

The conference agenda included the annual AGM with two remits from Auckland that had much interest from the public. Support was received and passed for the banning of public use of fireworks, the other remit didn’t receive enough support for the banning of parking on berms and was defeated.

There was much variety in the conference content which included hearing from Local Government Minister Hon Nanaia Mahuta and representatives from other political parties. Other speakers included Dr Lance O’Sullivan, Phil O’Reilly (Managing Director, Iron Duke Partners), John Mauro (Chief Sustainability Officer, Auckland Council) and from the organisers for School Strike 4 Climate NZ Sophie Hanford and Raven Maeder.

Wellington Mayor Justin Lester spoke to the conference on what his council is doing to address the housing crisis with his address titled ‘Ensuring our infrastructure is not just fit-for-purpose’ but supports sustained improvement in the quality of life for all New Zealanders, now and into the future’.

Four workshops were held with delegates having the choice of which one to attend:

- Social Wellbeing – Housing affordability
- Economic Wellbeing – Transforming the way local government works digitally
- Environmental Wellbeing – Bringing back our native flora and fauna
- Cultural Wellbeing – What the arts and cultural wellbeing means for communities

The conference heard from Doug Leeder, Chair of LGNZ Regional Group and Terry Copeland Chief Executive of Federated Farmers who spoke on the role we all have to play in managing fresh water, best practice and breakthroughs in innovation and addressing barriers.

The annual LGNZ Excellence Awards and Dinner was held, unfortunately Auckland did not feature in any categories as finalist, however retiring Cr Penny Hulse was acknowledged for her long service as an elected Local Government Member.

In summary it was an enjoyable Conference with lots of learnings that will be of benefit as I carry out my duties as an elected member for the Ward.
