

Oneroa Sunday Market

A full market on Sunday 13/01/19 with Darren from Waiheke Circus on stilts greeting guests.

Katy Soljak with her chilli sauce from Katy's Kitchen

Left : Oneroa Sunday market co-founder Lynsey Champion with her handmade hats.

"The focus of the Oneroa Sunday market is on handmade local goods", says Lynsey.

Made on Waiheke stallholders from a variety of nationalities at the Oneroa Sunday market

Left: Holly and Mandy Brown
of Waiheke
Botanicals

Right: Charlotte Parkes of Rebound Journals

Left: Turkish born
Deniz Foreman
with her Turkish
mezze platters

Right: Japanese
born Hannah Kumagai with her handprints and the
flax weaving of local Maori artist Jeanine
Clarkin

“ The market acts as a business incubator for local arts and craftspeople, many are immigrants to the island ” Lyndal Jefferies coordinator

Oneroa Sunday Market Entertainment : More than a market its a community event!

The Waiheke Circus provides themed performances and games for children

Above: Sahara Adams “Every market is a showcase for youth singer songwriters, surplus market funds goes towards recording time “

Sparkle Face painting provides high quality Face painting for children art every market.

Right: Easter themed Face painting.

